U.S. ENDORSES PEACE MOVE

Sweeping Changes Judicial Procedure Urged by Hoover

STRESSES CHANGES IN BANKRUPTCY ACT, OTHER PROCEDURE

MESSAGE CITES CHANGES ARE DESIGNED TO FACILITATE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

Washington, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—President Hoover today sent a special message to congress urging important changes in judicial procedure, designated to facilitate the administration of justice.

With the message, he submitted a voluminous report compiled by the attorney general on the bankruptcy act and its administration in the federal courts.

Cites Bankruptcy Cases
The president particularly stressed the importance of changes in the bankruptcy laws. He pointed to the increase in bankruptcy cases in recent years and urged legislation "to provide remedial processes in voluntary proceedings under which debtors may have the protection of the court without being adjudged bankrupt."

The president plainly urged that criminal procedure should be speeded up. He held that the federal courts could set an example to courts all through the judicial system.

The only mention he made of prohibition is a renewal of his previous recommendations regarding law enforcement in the district of Columbia. He urged that suggestions of the attorney general that local police be given authority to act with federal agents in prohibition enforcement in the District of Columbia, be adopted.

Mr. Hoover long has had a desire to make Washington a model for prohibition enforcement throughout the country.

The president recommended:

1. That the supreme court be authorized to prescribe uniform rules of practice and procedure in criminal cases.

2. That legislation be enacted permitting an accused person to waive the requirement of indictment by grand jury, and speed up the entire proceedings.

3. That legislation be passed providing that if not less than 12 eligible grand jurors vote for an indictment it shall not be invalidated because of the presence of ineligible jurors.

4. That most juvenile cases be turned over to state authorities rather than be tried in federal courts.

5. That a corporation operating in one state but incorporated in another should be treated as a citizen of any state in which it does business.

6. That congress act on recommendations by the attorney general supplementing the prohibition law in the District of Columbia.

7. That the bankruptcy laws be amended, materially strengthening them and protecting both debtors and creditors. The powers of the courts would be broadened in acting on discharges.

Stresses Three Points
The president said that a sound bankruptcy system should operate:

1. "First, to relieve honest but unfortunate debtors of an overwhelming burden of debt;

2. "Second, to effect a prompt and economical liquidation and distribution of insolvent estates; and

3. "Third, to discourage fraud and needless waste of assets by withholding relief from debtors in proper cases."

The report from the justice department condemned the bankruptcy statute on the grounds that in many instances it was functioning under circumstances of fraud and futility which the courts were powerless to correct. It estimated that through the law payment of almost $1,000,000,000 in debts is being escaped annually. Solicitor General Thomas D. Thatcher and Special Assistant Attorney General Lloyd K. Garrison, who prepared the report, said the present act had had serious unforeseen consequences. They cited that increase of bankruptcy cases from 15,000 with assets of $171,000,000 in 1930 to 60,000 with assets of $1,008,000,000 in the fiscal year 1931.

Discovery of Tunnel Nips Plot Break From Prison

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—Plot for a wholesale escape from the state penitentiary here was frustrated today when guards acting on a tip, discovered a tunnel being dug toward the wall.

John R. Butler, negro convict who had been missing for three weeks, was found in the tunnel which had reached almost halfway to the north wall from the foundry shop. The top of the tunnel was hidden by planks and covered by a ton of scrap iron.

Prison officials pointed out that if Butler had succeeded in finishing the tunnel, any number of prisoners would have been able to escape.

RECOVER 20 BODIES FROM WRECKED MINE 16 OTHERS SOUGHT

RESCUE WORKERS PROBE RUINS OF MINE SHAFT SHATTERED BY EXPLOSION

Boisevain, Pa., Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—Bodies of 16 miners, killed in an explosion at the Boisevain coal company's mine Saturday morning, still were sought today.

Twenty bodies were recovered yesterday after two days of work by a group of 50 rescue workers.

J. L. Phillips, whose body was among the first seven recovered, was the father of 10 children. The bodies were badly burned.

The necessity for building brattices to supply air to the rescue crews as they advanced along the shaft hampered the work.

They have not yet reached the scene of the explosion which occurred just before dawn Saturday—a low-pitched, rumbling roar heard throughout the mining village, followed by a cloud of dense black smoke from the mine entrance.

It was the worst mining disaster in this section in years.

REPORTS OF BRUTAL ATTACKS ON WOMEN AROUSES HONOLULU

ISLAND SEETHES WITH EXCITEMENT AS NEW OUTBREAK OF ATTACKS IS REPORTED

Honolulu, T. H., Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—Another brutal assault on a white woman, the wife of a navy man, and a threat to assault a neighbor, created a tense situation today.

Mrs. H. W. Hope, wife of a submarine machinist's mate, reported to police that a man broke into her Waikeke Beach home and attacked her after demanding money and threatening her with death.

The man also broke into the nearby home of Mrs. D. W. Curry, wife of a chief petty officer, and threatened her but did not attack her, police said.

Five men, whose identities police would not reveal, were rounded up as suspects. Police first announced Mrs. Hope had identified one of them as her attacker. Later they said she had not recognized any, as the intruder had blindfolded her with a stocking before attacking her.

Mrs. Hope is a partial cripple, suffering from a leg deformity. Her husband is en route to San Diego on a submarine. The intruder seemed to know that husbands of both women were not at home.

The man first entered the home of Mrs. Hope, police said, demanded money, and when she could produce none threatened to kill her.

Then he went to the nearby home of Mrs. Curry. He seized a small amount of cash she had, and stripped her of her clothing but did not attack her.

Returning to the Hope residence, he seized Mrs. Hope, blindfolded and gagged her, and criminally assaulted her.

Australian Native Draws Another Prison Term

Moorhead, Minn., Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—Vincent Lang, 45, native of Austria, today began another prison term similar to terms which he has served in the past in jail during 17 of the 19 years he has been in this country.

Lang told police he would kill himself if he had a gun. When charged with larceny and sentenced to 90 days in county jail, Lang turned to the court and said:

"If you can sentence me to the chair in this state, I'll take it."

NEWSBOY BRINGS END TO ROBBER'S CAREER

St. Paul, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—A series of minor holdups ended in death today for Harvey E. Ailsieger, 22, Minneapolis, when he was fatally wounded during a gun battle with a newspaper carrier, police announced.

Ailsieger died in Ancker hospital after being shot through the stomach on a county road north of the state fair grounds while he and an unidentified companion sought to rob Carleton Bourdeaux, 20, New Brighton.

Police said that Ailsieger and his companion had committed a number of holdups during the night but allowed their stolen automobile to slide into a ditch in which they were stuck.

Bourdeaux delivering his paper route drove up had helped them out of the ditch. The bandits ordered Bourdeaux to hold up his hands when their car was again on the road. Bourdeaux carried a pistol and opened fire.

Bourdeaux's fire took effect first. A passing motorist helped take the wounded man to St. Paul. The other bandit escaped when the party arrived in the city.

ARMY HOUSING PROGRAM OF $15,000,000 APPROPRIATION CARRIED IN BILL

Washington, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—An army housing program bill carrying appropriations of $15,000,000 for construction in all sections of the United States was introduced in the house today by Rep. James Rep., Mich. The bill is understood to have the approval of the military affairs committee. It is estimated that the new buildings recommended will include housing for 245 officers, 387 non-commissioned officers and 3,675 enlisted men.

Fort Snelling, Minn., will receive $115,000 under the terms of the bill.

MINNEAPOLIS RESTAURANT OPERATOR WOUNDS SON OF EMIL YOUNGDAHL

Minneapolis, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—An all-night restaurant proprietor, John Kanorr, today was held by police pending investigation of a shooting in which William Youngdahl, 19, son of Representative Emil Youngdahl, was critically wounded.

Kanorr, who recently wounded a bandit who attempted to rob him, admitted shooting the youth but said he thought that Youngdahl was about to hold him up.

Youngdahl was shot through the throat. The shooting occurred between 1 and 2 p. m. in Kanorr's establishment. Three companions of the youth were held for questioning.

Youngdahl's companions said that Kanorr shot after an argument.

SAYS STATE WILL ENDORSE ROOSEVELT NAT'L CONVENTION

MINNESOTA ROOSEVELT CLUB HEAD SEES INDICATION IN COUNTY CAUCUSES

St. Paul, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—E. G. Quamme, president of the Roosevelt club in Minnesota, today predicted that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt would obtain the state's support at the national convention in Chicago in June.

Quamme said that his prediction was based on reports from county caucuses throughout the state. The only threat to the Roosevelt movement in the state convention is the uninstructed delegations of which there will be only a few of small number, Quamme said.

Among the uninstructed delegations will be 36 delegates from Stearns county where a "Smith for president" boom was stopped when James R. Bennett, Jr., St. Cloud, lost his fight to have the group instructed for former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York.

THREATEN CAPITAL, FORCE RETIREMENT OF OLD GOVERNMENT

LAPPO MOVEMENT, SIMILAR TO FASCISTS, MOBILIZES FOR DRIVE ON HELSINKI

Helsingfors, Finland, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—An ultimatum was served today on the president by the anti-communist Lappo organization, which has risen and threatens to seize the capital by force.

Deliver Ultimatum
The ultimatum demanded the formation of a new government pledged to the suppression of Marxism.

The Lappo peasant movement, similar to the fascist movement in other countries, has a heavy following and claimed that thousands of its supporters were mobilizing. The government held the army ready to suppress the rebellion.

Militant fascists of the Lappo organization and other extreme elements prepared to march on Helsingfors today.

"This is war," the chief of staff of the Lappo party forces told correspondents at Maentyla, where Lappoists claimed to have 4,000 armed men with from 20,000 to 30,000 more converging on the district.

"Within 24 hours Helsingfors will be in our hands."

The government dispatched patrols everywhere to recall soldiers on leave. Plans to suppress the Lappo movement were made at a midnight meeting of the cabinet with military leaders.

The district where the Lappoites were concentrated is some 100 miles north of here. Extremists were said to have gained military control over a large area after disturbances which began Saturday when Lappo sympathizers opened fire on a socialist meeting attended by men, women and children.

Military authorities here did not believe that the Lappoites had more than 3,000 men. The government said most of the civil corps was loyal but admitted that many of the corps members were sympathetic with the Lappo movement.

Ford V-8 to Sell at About Same Price as Model "A"
Detroit, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—The Ford V-8 automobile will sell at approximately the same price as the model A or only slightly higher, preliminary reports on costs indicate, according to the company headquarters. The new four will sell for approximately $100 less than the V-8. The present model A ranges from $148 to $668, delivered in Detroit.

2 KILLED, 5 INJURED AS 3 CARS COLLIDE
St. Paul, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—Two persons were killed and five injured in an automobile smashup north of the city yesterday, involving three automobiles and nine motorists.

The dead are August Beisswenger, 29, New Brighton, and Joseph Stolsky, 17, Minneapolis.

Stolsky was riding with Beisswenger as were three other youths. Their automobile collided with a car driven by Simon Johnson, 46, Minneapolis. Johnson and his wife suffered fractured skulls.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—Bernie Bierman, new football coach at the University of Minnesota will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Crookston unit of the University Alumni Association, Dr. O. E. Lecken, chairman, announced today.

U. S. AIRPLANE FIRMS NEGOTIATING WITH CHINA-JAPAN FOR SALE OF EQUIPMENT
New York, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—The United Aircraft and Transport corporation, one of the largest makers of airplanes in the United States, is negotiating through a subsidiary, United Aircraft Exports, Inc., for the sale of aviation equipment to both China and Japan, T. H. McConnell, vice president of the export division, said today.

McConnell said he looked forward to a fair amount of business from combatants but that all transactions would be on a cash basis. He said that no actual business had been booked as yet but if ordered it would be filled from various manufacturing points throughout the country.

Officials of the company read with interest the far eastern reports that China was negotiating for a large loan here for munitions, but banks through which Chinese usually handle their financing were reticent in discussing these reports. No confirmation could be obtained.

Wichita, Kansas, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—Negotiations to sell airplanes to both the Chinese and Japanese forces for use in training pilots were admitted today by officials of the Stearman Aircraft Co., a subsidiary of United Aircraft Co. The negotiations have been under way for four months, but have been delayed by difficulties of monetary exchange, Stearman officials said.

ARREST OF CHINESE OFFICER BARES WAR LOAN BY AMERICANS

REPORT FINDING CONTRACTS FOR PLANES, MUNITIONS IN OFFICER'S BRIEF CASE

Shanghai, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—A Chinese pedestrian seized by Japanese consulate police in the lobby of the Astor House hotel was revealed today as Gen. Wang-Ken, commander of the Salt Revenue Constabulary, who has been linked with rumored efforts of Chinese to raise a $30,000,000 war loan from Americans.

The Japanese seized the general's brief case, in which it was understood they found contracts for American airplanes and munitions. It also was reported Wang-Ken commanded several units of the crack 19th Chinese route army, foremost Shanghai defense group.

General Wang-Ken had approached the Japanese consular offices in search of the American consulate, failing to realize that American headquarters had been moved to a new location. Japanese police gave chase and captured him in a hotel.

Chinese employees of the Astor House were no angrier that they went on strike for two hours. A Russian ballboy who aided in capturing the general was dismissed to appease the Chinese.

Wang-Ken was a former student of Michigan, Columbia and Princeton universities and was graduated from West Point in 1919.

The report of the American Loan or credit came from the Japanese consul general at Shanghai. The loan was negotiated, it was said, by Chiang Kai-shek, resigned head of the Chinese government, and commander of troops now defending Shanghai.

Japanese Consul General Mural at Shanghai understood that a portion of the loan, either two-fifths or three-fifths, was reportedly to be paid in materials, including munitions.

Cite Conditions
"We desire to restore peace on the following conditions," Sato said.

1. Japan to co-operate with the powers in the re-establishment of order on condition of such guarantees as will assure the safety and security of our nationals.

2. Japan has no objection to the organization of a round table.

3. Japan has no territorial designs nor does she wish for special or exclusive privileges for her nationals in Shanghai.

4. Japan denies she intended organizing neutral zones in other cities.

Shanghai, Tuesday, March 1.—(U.P.)—Cannonading and machine gun firing continued in the Chapel quarter of Shanghai during the night despite under cover peace negotiations in progress.

It was indicated the Japanese were preparing more extensive operations for today, especially aerial bombardment, unless some sort of truce or agreement is effected. The Japanese delivered an ultimatum, giving the Chinese until 2 p. m. today to stop bringing up reinforcements, on threat of blowing up the railroad arteries into the city.

Some reliable quarters believed the peace negotiations were meaningless, although conversations continued between Yosuke Matsuoka, Japanese spokesman, and the Chinese.

Nanking, China, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—Wang Ching-wei, executive head at Loyang, the provisional capital, said today that China will invoke article XVI of the covenant when the league assembly meets this week at Geneva. The article would provide for economic penalties against Japan.

Paris, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—China and Japan have placed orders for machine guns and other arms and munitions on a large scale in France, the United Press was informed by an official source today.

Reports that Japan had placed orders amounting to 200,000,000 francs ($7,800,000) were considered exaggerated, however, although some factories were working overtime. Shares of armament companies have showed consistent strength on the bourse.

Small Pox Epidemic
Shanghai, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—Small pox has broken out among American soldiers of the 31st Infantry on guard in the international settlement, causing two deaths, it was learned today. Privates Albert Lewis, 19, and James D. Jordan, 22, succumbed to the disease. Two other members of the 31st are under treatment but doctors said they would recover.

Tokio, Feb. 29.—(U.P.)—The Japanese consul-general at Vladivostok has been informed from "a reliable foreign source" that 100,000 Soviet troops are concentrated in the Soviet maritime provinces and that extensive warlike preparations are under way.

Foodstuffs and munitions were said to be moving into the Vladivostok area day and night.

Mrs. A. E. Allen Honored at Surprise Party Friday

A few friends surprised Mrs. A. E. Allen in her home, 704 Norwood street, Friday afternoon. They presented her with a gift, the occasion being her birthday. The afternoon was spent socially and a dainty luncheon served at the close.

Mr. and Mrs. Richman Entertain at Party

"Five Hundred" was played at three tables in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Richman, 303 B street, N. E., when friends were entertained Saturday night. Mrs. L. Babcock scored high and won ladies' head prize while men's went to Raymond Mee. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montgomery won consolation prizes. Mrs. Richman served luncheon at a late hour.

Degree of Honor Plans Bingo Party

A bingo party planned by the Executive Club of the Degree of Honor, will be held tomorrow evening in the Iron Exchange hall. Prizes will be awarded and luncheon served. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Crow Wing County Tourists Enjoy St. Petersburg, Fla.

A colony of Crow Wing county visitors in St. Petersburg, Fla., continues to grow yearly. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dorsett, Owen Dorsett and Pearl Dorsett all of Brainerd. This is their second winter in Florida and they reside at All States Court, N. 38. Mrs. H. E. Dorsett, mother of E. L. Dorsett, lives with them. Mrs. D. C. Gray is the guest of friends at 835 24th avenue, N., this winter. This is her fifth season in St. Petersburg. Mrs. Carrie P. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Kreitter all of Iron-ton, are visiting with friends in the Sunshine City.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Thurlow, Pequot, motored to Florida and are living at No. 32 All States Court.

The social season is now at its height—the annual Beaux Arts ball is scheduled for March 3, the "Orange Blossom" ball the following night, and a score or more dinner dances leading up to the Festival Queens ball to be held the thirtieth of March.

Leaders of the Methodist church were in Brainerd today for the rally and fellowship dinner to be held tonight in the Methodist church.

The rally, continuing the meetings in the Northern conference, will be held at 8 o'clock. It is open to the general public and the Rev. F. A. Kufus, pastor, today extended an invitation to all to attend.

The fellowship dinner will be held at 6 o'clock.

Speakers will include Dr. Alfred Hughes, president of Hamline university.

Attribute Arrests to Part Time Use of Car

Police here credited the arrest of six men in Brainerd recently to the use of the city engineer's car which the city council ordered on night duty.

Four of the men were arrested in connection with theft of lumber on Front street while two careless drivers were arrested more recently. The six arrested have drawn sentences.

CHAMBER COMMITTEE ASKS SENTIMENTS OF PEOPLE ON PROPOSED GAME REFUGE

Desirous of securing a true sentiment of the people regarding the proposed game refuge at Gull lake, a Brainerd Chamber of Commerce committee today asked those interested to express their views in letters to the Brainerd Daily Dispatch.

The letters will not be published. They will be held in confidence and turned over to the Chamber committee so the members may have a concrete stand when appearing before the hearing on the petition to establish the preserve.

The hearing will take place at the farmers' room of the court house, Saturday afternoon, March 5.

Letters should be in the hands of the Daily Dispatch not later than Wednesday afternoon as the committee will meet Wednesday night to prepare its stand at the hearing.

The committee comprises: Egon Reese, B. L. Pulkarabek, Alan D. Masters, Earl O'Brien, Elmer Olson, George Trent and J. F. Cibazar, chairman.

The proposed game preserve comprises property covering a large share of the shore line of Lower and Upper Gull lakes in Crow Wing and Cass counties.

HUGHES DISAPPEARS FROM HOME, STORE; SEARCH INSTITUTED

COURT BAILIFF HERE MANY YEARS NOT SEEN SINCE 8 A. M. TODAY

John Hughes, 109 A. street, N. E., local merchant, was missing today from his home and business and concern was expressed for his safety.

Hughes, 75 years old, a district court bailiff here many years, left his North-east Brainerd store at 8 a. m. today to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mary Maloney. He has not been seen since.

Sheriff Frank E. Little began a hunt for the man this afternoon when relatives reported Hughes' disappearance.

SUICIDE IS IDENTIFIED AS LITTLE FALLS MAN

A man who committed suicide early last Friday after his automobile had struck another machine at a street intersection here at Indiana Harbor, Ind., has been identified as Elmer Simons, 27, farmer of Little Falls, Minn.

Identification was made by Albert Schaffer, who lives on a farm adjoining the Simons' property in Minnesota.

Schaffer on his way from Warren, Pa., to his home, chanced to pick up a newspaper on a railway train. It contained a picture of the mystery man. Schaffer immediately recognized it as that of his old friend Simons. Upon reaching Chicago, Schaffer proceeded to Indiana Harbor's morgue where he told police the victim was Simons beyond doubt.

The identification was accepted although an Indiana Harbor policeman had identified the body as that of an escaped Ohio convict named Ragland. Simons leaped from his automobile after it crashed into a car driven by a Chicago woman who was uninjured. He cried, "Get away from me and don't try to stop me," pulled a revolver and shot himself. In his machine were found a number of guns, a rifle, bogus automobile license plates and maps of southern states.

Simons was said by Little Falls authorities to have been wanted there for participation in the holdup of the Upsala bank last November.

CARELESS DRIVERS IMPOSED $50 FINES

Stanley Alexander and James Erickson were each fined $50 in municipal court by Judge J. H. Warner this morning on pleas of guilty to careless driving.

Alexander was charged with careless driving on Laurel Street Feb. 28 while Erickson was charged with careless driving on Kingwood street, Feb. 26.

AMATEUR SKI CROWN NORWAY CLUB ENTRY

Tahoe City, Calif., Feb. 29.—(UP)—Anton Lekang, big blonde Viking from the Norway Ski club of New York City, was the new national amateur ski champion today by his impressive victory over the nation's finest performers in the annual tournament here.

Lekang scored 213 points in the class A competition yesterday, nosing out John Elvrum of the Cascade Ski club, Portland, Ore., who was second with 208.1 points. Glen Armstrong, Rocky Mountain Ski club, Estes, Colo., finished a strong third with 208.

Although Lekang carried away first honors, the record for the day's longest leap fell to Elvrum who cleared 190 feet in a single bound.

The four-day tourney, first held west of the Rockies by the National Amateur association, was to close today with the 31 mile "Dauerlauf" cross country race over a hazardous course of snow.

Casper Oimen of Canton, S. D., defending champion, was prevented from competing by a broken ankle suffered in a practice jump Saturday.

Giant African forest hogs grow nearly to the size of a small hippopotamus.

Boys Playing Marbles, Tennis Players Warm Up as "Spring" Continues

Premature spring weather continued in this district as well as throughout the large part of the northwest today. Brainerd lawns were turning green, residents doffed winter apparel for spring clothing, boys began shooting "nibs" while tennis players made their appearance on the Gregory park courts.

Ice bound lakes took on the first breaking up signs, slush covering them. The Mississippi river was partially open.

More "first" robins were seen again today in various parts of the city.

SPECTATORS SHOW KEEN INTEREST IN SPINNING METHODS

The efforts to establish an historical museum in the basement of the new court house have been met by a gratifying spirit of hearty cooperation from the county commissioners, the court house officials and employees, and county residents generally. This spirit of helpfulness was well exemplified yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Jacob Thoe, 1923 South Sixth street, and Mrs. Peter Olson, 1804 Maple street, in their enactment of Henry I. Cohen's "Spinning Song" idea, in the museum itself.

Dressed in their pretty Norwegian costumes, these ladies climbed blithely to the large platform, posed for a moment before James M. Gorman's camera, and then sat, for three hours, carding and spinning wool before the milling crowds of interested onlookers. Smilingly and in detail they answered questions and explained their work. It might be expected that 25 years' residence in Crow Wing county, so far removed from the necessity for such work, might have caused their nimble fingers to lose their cunning, but this does not seem to be the case. Neither were these ladies, as "Dispatch" representative had expected to find, elderly women. Both must have left the "land of fords" in early girlhood, but were already adept in the ancient craft.

Mrs. Olson being a native of the Hardanger region, wore a short, close-fitting, sleeveless bodice of scarlet wool, bordered with hand embroidery in bright yarns, over a white blouse held at the throat with one of those distinctly Norwegian brooches of laced gold pendants. Her skirt was of dark wool and over it she wore a white Hardanger apron. Her cap, square, of scarlet and beautifully beaded and embroidered, was of the Oslo type.

"The brooch I am wearing," said Mrs. Olson, "is a recent Christmas gift from my people back home, but I have here," producing it from her bodice, "a very old one. This has been handed down from mother to daughter for I don't know how many generations." It was of heavier design and jewel set, the pendants being hollow disks of time-stained gold, a beautiful bit of metal work.

Mrs. Thoe, who hails from the village of Sondsjoerd, near Bergen, also wore the dark skirt and heavily bordered white apron, a white blouse over which a quaint little woolen shoulder shawl was pinned by a huge cameo brooch. Her peaked cap was edged with a muffle of heavy white lace. "My great grandmother wore the material fashioned and wore this," said Mrs. Thoe as she tied it quaintly beneath her chin.

The raw wool, secured through the efforts of S. R. Hickerson, was first carded by Mrs. Thoe, on ancient cards she had brought with her from Norway. It was then spun by Mrs. Olson on a wheel that came over with the mother of Rev. O. L. Istad. Mrs. Olsons spun the fine thread, used in weaving woolen cloth, and then she twisted some of these into yarn suitable for knitting. The work was most interesting to those whose knowledge of it had therefore been confined to descriptions in books or old family traditions.

If the museum continues to prove as attractive to Sunday afternoon visitors as it was yesterday, the services of a Sixth and Nicollet traffic cop may become necessary. The visitors' Register showed 550 names, recorded for the afternoon, and more than a hundred other visitors were counted but were unable to register.

(Published in the Brainerd Daily Dispatch, Feb. 29, March 1, 1932, 31.)

MAN FOUND DEAD IN LUNDBORG COTTAGE BURIED AT NISSWA

FAITHFUL DOG MOURNS DEATH OF MASTER, EMIL ANDERSON, 65, CARETAKER

Burial took place at Nisswa Sunday for Emil Anderson, 65 years old, found dead from heart failure Saturday at one of the S. Lundborg cottages on Cullen lake where he was employed as caretaker.

Neighbors who came to call on Anderson found his body, fully dressed, lying on a bed. Apparently the caretaker laid down to rest, pulled a cover over himself and died while he slept.

A collie dog, the man's pet, guarded the man's body and after considerable persuasion permitted the neighbors to enter the home. Later when D. E. Whitney and assistants came for the body, the dog appeared menacing but was calmed by Whitney.

The dog was taken by S. Lundborg and brought to his home in Brainerd. The animal had been with Anderson since a pup and was highly devoted to his master. While neighbors were in the cottage the dog remained at the dead man's bedside with its paws on the man's chest and at times licked the cheeks of the man.

Anderson had been caretaker at the Lundborg cottages the past five years. He was unmarried.

Spring things at their best—that tells the story of the Brainerd shops that I visited this week. New spring merchandise is brimming over from every box and shelf—and the prices—I have never seen such lovely things at such attractive prices. There is scarcely a resident of Brainerd who cannot take advantage and profit by the splendid values the Brainerd stores are now offering. I will personally appreciate your closely reading my column this week and then visiting the shops I mention. I am sure that you will agree with me that the things I tell you about are the finest ever.

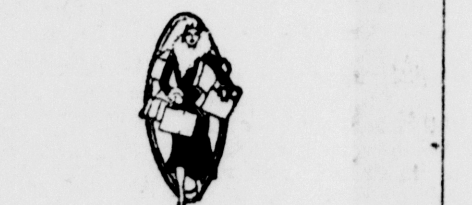

IT'S A SLANG PHRASE—

"He knows his groceries," but in real earnest I can say about Mr. Angell at the A. & P. Food Store! He seems to anticipate our every need—and city chefs' latest fads and fancies are found right here at home for us all! Perhaps you're giving a party in the next few days! Fat ruby Maraschino cherries will add zest and color. Salted nuts! Canned meats—chicken—tuna fish or salmon and crisp lettuce for salads! Snappy salt wafers! Red jello—moulded in clever designs! There are ideas galore for March party menus and you can be sure of getting all your requirements at the A. & P. Food Store. Com'on, let's plan a party! And remember I told you Mr. Angell surely "knows his groceries."

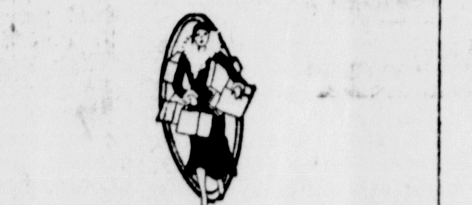

IT ISN'T OFTEN

you find pasteurized milk within the reach of everyone, but you Brainerd folks can be assured of fresh and pure milk when you buy from the Russell Creamery. Since there is nothing that can take the place of milk in assuring health, bright eyesight, freedom from colds, a food for the nerves and to build and repair teeth, it is most important we give special attention to the milk supply and see that it is pure. Have a bottle of Pasteurized Milk on your step every morning. Try it and nothing else will do!

"REPAIRING AND REMODELING"

said Mr. Geist at the Hayes-Lucas Lumber Company when I asked him what people are doing in the way of building this time of the year. If you've some repairs that need tending to, just ask Mr. Geist to estimate the cost of the materials for you. He'll be glad to do it, and you'll be surprised at the low figures he can give you. Fences need fixing?

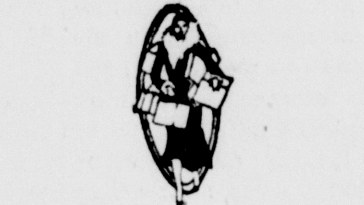

I HAVE A FRIEND

who simply couldn't force her ten-year-old son to practice his music lessons. The trouble was she was trying to make him take piano lessons, while his heart was with the "gang" in the school orchestra. She purchased a cornet for him and now that same boy is a "whiz" according to his young friends. Perhaps you have a youngster who would enjoy a place in the orchestra. The Hall Music House makes it possible because they carry a large and complete stock of popular priced instruments.

QUAINTLY REMINISCENT of grandmother's days with the open fireplace and swinging crane, are the little pudgy, squatly pewter creamers and sugar bowls I found at the Sedlock Jewelry Store. Gleaming candle sticks—mayonnaise bowls and gravy boats! Covered vegetable dishes—water pitchers! Colonial patterns in all the pewter makes it especially attractive! For bridge prizes or to add a gleam to your home select pewter at the Sedlock Jewelry Store. If you Brainerd housewives wish to complete a set of pewter or add something to your silverware now is the time—jewelry prices are hitting bottom, too, without lessening the high quality the Sedlock Jewelry Company always maintains.

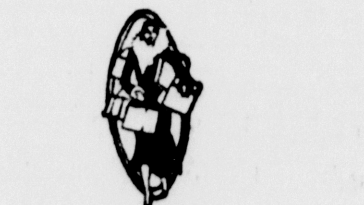

THOSE OF YOU WHO TOOK

my advice two weeks ago, and saw the remarkable values in the "98c—heart of a dollar" event at the J. C. Penney Store here in Brainerd, are probably still finding more values in goods that you can buy now, and save money on. I really do think that this sale is most remarkable. Every possible line of merchandise that one could want this season is included. This sale is a real value event of the J. C. Penney Store, and you can join me in its praise—only after you've made a shopping tour to the store. I can't possibly tell you in this column of all the bargains. See them yourself!

"THEY'LL BE MY RUINATION," exclaimed Peggy—"Another run—and goodness knows every time I turn around—zip—goes another perfectly good pair of stockings!"—and Peggy hadn't worn them but once. I'd suggest buying your hose at the Geo. F. Murphy Dry Goods store and get Gordon hosiery—I'm quite sure the "run" problem will be solved. You'll find all the spring shades and the latest in style. Now, for myself, I'm particularly fond of the mesh weaves so popular now. And my favorite shade is smoketone—it blends with anything you wish to wear it with.

NEWER AND CLEVERER

Smoking stands! And they boast lots of them at the Patek Furniture Store. If hubby's always spilling ashes on the carpets, get him one to put by his favorite reading chair—it'll solve the problem completely, and at the same time look modern and attractive. They're priced around $2.50 and come in several lovely little designs.

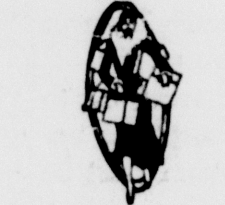

COUNTING CALORIES 'SNO USE!

I simply can't pass up those creamy chocolates and bon-bons at Johnson's Pharmacy. Different? Well, rather! They carry Whitman candies and you know what that means! And when you are in need of toilet articles drop in there and let Mr. Johnson help you select cosmetics suitable for your particular type! And, too, you know how awfully important prescription filling is—well, a registered pharmacist takes care of your wants in that line at Johnson's Pharmacy.

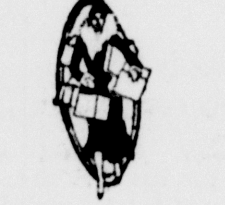

IF YOU'VE HAD

baked apples a few times and the family doesn't care for them any more try baking a new way—remove the cores and fill with jam and butter. Place round slices of stale bread in a baking dish and put an apple on each. Pour scalded milk and water over the bread. Bake until the apples are soft. Serve in the baking dish. Your family will call for apples baked with bread again and again. The Laurel Fruit Company has Rome Beauty and Black Twigs, but Mr. Pangborn will tell you that they are best for baking. They'll give you all kinds of suggestions at the Laurel Fruit Company—just ask them which is best for this and which is best for that.

IF I WERE A MAN!

Yes sir, if I were a man I'm very sure I'd pay special attention to my spring hat selection. The first thing I notice in masculine apparel is his hat. And I've heard other girls say the same thing. I just wish you'd pause at the Peterson Clothing Company and see the display of Stetson hats. If I am any judge they have some good looking hats! Quite a variety of colors—wide enough to suit any complexion. The rounded brim seems to predominate. Mr. Peterson is a Stetson enthusiast. "We have carried the Stetson for many years," he says, "and I know their quality."

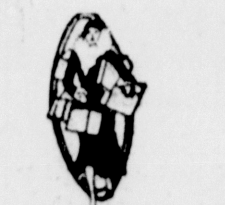

I KNOW A GIRL

who said she'd marry the first man that remembered to send her flowers on her birthday. The other day she sent me an announcement of her approaching marriage, so I've concluded that some man remembered. There's the lesson for the rest of you young fellows. If she lives out of town there's no excuse, either. All you need do is to dash over to the Brainerd Greenhouse and Mr. Peterson will wire flowers anywhere for you. Perhaps that's just the thing that some lonesome little girl is waiting for right now!

I DROPPED INTO

Van's Cafe the other evening about nine o'clock for a bite to eat. I had a toasted ham sandwich, a glass of milk, and a piece of cherry pie—which turned into quite a lunch. And it was all delicious! If you're ever hungry (and who isn't?), just drop into Van's Cafe. You'll find a menu full of short orders that'll simply ruin your appetite!

OSTEOPATHY GOES

To the source of disease. Phone Dr. E. C. Herzog for treatments for colds, bronchitis, headaches, flu, lumbago, stomach ailments, pneumonia or any of the other illnesses that befall you. He'll call at your home or you may go to his office, but don't let those things run on and on—take osteopathic treatment and be started on your way to normal health.

ONE OF THE MOST interesting places in Brainerd is the D. E. Whitney store. If you have the slightest leaning for art, you will find real pleasure in browsing through the Whitney collection of etchings, water colors and oils. I can think of no more profitable way to spend an hour. In fact, I wonder how many of you Brainerd residents realize that the Whitney store carries a line of art works that is very unusual in cities of this type. There is a truly remarkable group of etchings—English, French and German. Zorn's etchings are featured. Then there are water colors by Herbert Tomlinson and Thompson, and numbers by A. Hazzor, the famous Turkish artist. What an opportunity you Brainerd folks have to adorn your homes with beautiful pictures, selected right here from one of your local stores. Take my advice and visit the Whitney store, 720 Front Street.

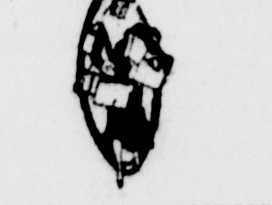

PERHAPS YOU'VE NOTICED

the display of Parker, Wahl and Conklin pens and pencils at the Brainerd Office Supply Company. They're a mighty timely display—during the school year. And you know, I can think of nothing that would be so nice a gift to the school boy or girl as a Parker, Wahl or Conklin pen and pencil set. There's something will last a long, long time, and give real service, too. The Parker pen and pencils sets are priced from $5.00 to $15.00. For a limited time they are giving free a Pen-Parker with every Parker Duo-fold sold, this amounts to a desk set as well as pocket pen in one purchase. Why not take advantage of this liberal offer for graduation gifts.

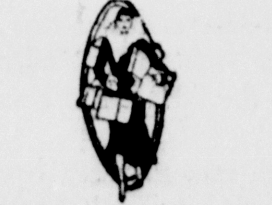

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

folks tell me they meet new customers frequently—the average community, they say, changes 10 per cent of its population each year. People move in. Others move out. Some pass away. Others are born. The First National Bank is an old and established institution in Brainerd and you new folks who are coming into Brainerd and its surrounding territory this month and next—the months of moving—just drop in and get acquainted at the bank. I like them, Brainerd likes them and I'm sure you'll like them.

HERE'S A HOUSECLEANING TIP

and it won't be long until you Brainerd housewives get busy at that, either—window washing is a lot easier if you use a sponge and chamomile. Of course, it's no snap any way you do it, but you'll find it a lot easier with a large sponge and a good chamomile. They have them for that purpose at the H. P. Dunn Drug Store—at prices that you'll like, too. You'll be surprised how easily and quickly your windows shine with just a few motions of the chamomile. And it gets 'em clean, too!

May I offer a general suggestion? Many times you have need for information about certain types of merchandise or service. The merchants represented here in my department would be delighted to have you drop in at any time to get such information. It is yours for the asking.

Yours,

Betty Lou

AVOIDING THE DOLE—

The present hardly seems a good time to get worried about the chance that continued mechanization of industry will give workers more leisure time than they know how to use. But depressions do not last forever, and sooner or later, when all the wheels are turning again, we shall have to face the implications of the fact that the world's work can be done now in a lot less time than used to be the case.

William John Cooper, United States commissioner of education, pointed out the other day that we are still going to have an unemployment problem on our hands even when prosperity has returned; and he remarked, very pertinently:

"Many factories will not employ a man past 45. Shelving the aged means an old age pension system. Periodic unemployment means unemployment insurance, or doles, or something worse."

All of which, of course, simply means that if we are going to go on in the future as we have in the past, we must accept the unpleasant fact that the men for whom industry has no room must be taken care of somehow.

A year ago the word, "dole," was a word at which all good men shuddered. A few days ago a bill providing for a direct federal dole came within a mere handful of votes of passing the U. S. Senate. The word is not as frightening as it was; it another year it will be even less so. Gradually and painfully, we are learning something.

Now all of the things that have been said against the dole are quite true. England provides thousands of living examples of the way in which the dole can sap manhood of its self-reliance and energy. But there is only one way of avoiding the dole—to rearrange industry so that there will always be work for an honest, capable and reliable workman.

Present conditions, to be sure, are abnormal. But when normal times return we shall have to keep that fact in mind. Unemployment, in other words, represents our greatest problem—a problem that is with us in good times as well as in bad times.

ON WRITING A BOOK—

The young man who sets out to write a book usually fails entirely to realize that he is entering one of the most sharply competitive fields there is.

Offhand, it seems as if the man with a good yarn in his system ought not to have much trouble getting it printed. Lots of books get published every year, and some of them are, to put it mildly, middling poor. It should be fairly simple to put one over if it's any good at all.

But the reality is more discouraging. A typical example is the case of E. P. Dutton and Co., a representative publishing house.

This spring Dutton is publishing 42 books. These were chosen from more than 10,000 manuscripts that were submitted. Of the 10,000, approximately 1,500 were held worthy of serious consideration, not only by the editorial department but by the sales, advertising, publicity and trade promotion departments.

"It is generally estimated," says John Macrae, Jr., vice president of the firm, "that most large publishing houses receive about 10 times as many manuscripts as they can give serious consideration to. The others are obviously so poor that they have to be refused without this careful consideration, in order not to clog up the editorial offices and because of the expense involved—the actual reading of a manuscript costs about $10."

Nor is that the worst of it. Of the 42 books this firm is publishing this spring, only 10 are first books by new authors. The other 32 are all by writers who are well known to the public and to the publishing trade.

What, then, is the aspiring young author up against when he blithely wraps up that distillation of dreams and desires which constitutes his manuscript and consigns it to the mails? He has just about one chance in a thousand.

Do you hope to become a writer? Think twice about it—think more than twice, in fact, and accept the fact that the odds are all against you, and consider the added fact that even if it gets published your book probably won't make you any money. Then, if you still feel you must write—go to it, and good luck.

THE NAVAL CONSTRUCTION BILL—

The Senate Naval Committee has approved the $980,000,000 construction bill brought in by Chairman Frederic Hale of Maine, and early passage by the Senate has been forecast by political leaders in Washington.

It is worth remembering, however, that this is not an appropriation bill. Passing it does not mean that Uncle Sam is immediately committed to the expenditure of all that money. In fact—judging by the comments some senators made about passing the bill in order to strengthen the hands of the American delegation at Geneva—one might wonder whether the bill were not a bluff.

If we actually go ahead and appropriate money for that amount of construction, it will mean that we have lost all faith in armament reduction plans. Spending just under a billion dollars on new fighting ships is not exactly a pacific gesture.

The value of Paris, according to a survey of the Municipal Council, is $8,320,000,000. This assessed valuation, however, does not include the famed and valuable Notre Dame Cathedral and grounds. The estimated value of the Louvre is $250,000,000; the Elysee Palace $120,000,000; the Opera, $125,000,000, and the Luxembourg Gardens, $60,000,000.

The dime-a-dance girl

By JOAN CLAYTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beautiful ELLEN ROSSITER, a girl in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her extravagant mother, MARY, and her young brother, MIKE. The two girls support the family. Moly suddenly spends money saved to pay the rent. Ellen decides to work at night at Dreamland as a dancer. The business is not very exciting, and Ellen does not own one.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

ELLEN had not expected to enjoy that afternoon with Larry Harrowgate. She would have said that her mother's hysterics, her own dissatisfaction with the state of affairs between them, had spoiled the afternoon. But when at 4:30, only 20 minutes late, he appeared leaping up the stairs she saw that she had been wrong.

"I'm a mountain goat," he shouted when he caught sight of her in the doorway. "I'm good for 10 fights yet."

Ellen laughed. "You're pouting just the same," she jeered. "Did you by any chance see Mrs. Clancy as you were coming up? She generally opens her door to investigate all callers."

"That the party with the red face and the mob cap I flew past on the second floor?" he inquired as he reached the landing and paused panting. "Sure. She was so interested I thought she meant to join me on the last lap."

"You're lucky she didn't," Ellen advised him with a little giggle. "You'd have had to carry her, I'm sure."

"That was a break," he said. They stood for a moment laughing at the door of the living room, where afternoon sunlight shone merrily on the hodge-podge furniture and leveled its rays as well on the shabby, worn carpet and faded wall paper. Ellen had thoroughly swept the apartment and folded up the Sunday papers but she had changed nothing. She felt an obscure determination that Larry Harrowgate should see them as they were. Now that he was there, as thoroughly at ease as though he were in the home of a millionaire, she breathed with relief.

He was no snob.

Molly and Mike had disappeared but Myra was there. She refused their urgent invitation to join them on the score of some darned she must do. So Ellen and Larry departed alone.

"Your sister's swell," Larry observed.

"Yes, isn't she?" Ellen agreed eagerly.

"She could see that we wanted to be alone," he went on. "I bet my hat she had no darned to do." Ellen was conscious of not wanting to forget a word of all this. She knew she would want to remember often what he had said. It would have been a little better if he had not laughed so. Still there it was—he had said they wanted to be alone.

LARRY giggled when Mrs. Clancy appeared at the door and peeped in at the pair. "What a racket," she said, "rattling for the kindy ladies who was pretending she was invisible. Then they reached the street where a collection of grimy urchins, their Sunday clothes already hopelessly soiled, scrambled over a shining blue roadster."

"What a marvelous car," Ellen breathed.

"What you can see of it isn't so bad. At the moment it looks something like a human ant hill," he remarked, adding carelessly, "Doesn't belong to me. I wish it did. But I've the use of it till seven."

Larry dug into his pockets for change and came out with a handful of nickels and dimes. For all the world like a pitcher preparing to hurl a fast one, he swung his arm, whispering to Ellen to watch. Coins sprang from his hand and clattered to the street in all directions, some of them rolling half a block away. At once the roadster was abandoned by the shouting, shrieking youngsters who pounced after the elusive coins. Several fist fights had begun by the time Ellen and Larry, laughing helplessly, stepped into the empty car and drove off.

"You'll never be rich if you throw away money like that," the girl said after a while.

"Ho! Ho! So you're another one of those people who's going to tell me things for my own good," he commented with a sideways and delighted glance at her. "Certainly not!" she assured him with indifference.

Nevertheless her color rose and even as she entered her swift denial she was wondering who those others were. Certainly this charming, irresponsible young man needed to be told things for his own good. Was he referring to Elizabeth Bowes, his fiancée? Briefly Ellen experienced a twist of pure pain. Then she determined sensibly that no such speculations should spoil the afternoon. For a few hours at least Larry belonged exclusively to her. She must get what fun she could from those hours.

"You did tell me that you were poor," she ventured.

"That's right. A poor man with a rich man's habits. Don't you feel sorry for me?"

"Can't say that I do exactly."

He laughed and called her hard-hearted. Soon they were wrangling gaily, pleased with each other and with themselves, pleased to be together, riding in a smooth, luxurious car on such a glorious day.

"That's a nice frock," Larry said as they swept out of Pine street and toward Manhattan.

"I wore it last night," Ellen responded innocently. "This is the same one with the jacket added."

"You're a smart little girl, aren't you, Ellen?"

"Girls have to be smart about things," Ellen confessed, hiding her exultation with the compliment.

"With or without the jacket, that dress is just your ticket," Larry summarized it.

THE car slid over Brooklyn bridge. Ellen, glancing up, surprised an odd expression on Larry's face. He spoke but the roar of Sunday traffic drowned his voice. Helplessly the girl shook her head.

Lower Manhattan was quieter. Empty office buildings frowned down into empty canyons that on weekdays were filled with scurrying stenographers and clerks and brokers and customers' men. Nothing open, not a restaurant, not a drug-store, not a news stand. A few pedestrians idled along lower Broadway, a few cars idled along the deserted street, but everywhere was the peace of Sunday. Ellen waited for Larry to speak. He had wanted to say something; he had said something on the bridge. His persistent silence disturbed the girl, made her nervous and absurdly anxious.

"Well?" she said at length.

"Well," he repeated after her. "You said something to me on the bridge but I couldn't hear," she told him a little stiffly.

"So I did," he agreed exasperatingly.

"What was it?"

"Something I hadn't any right to say to you."

"Oh, for heaven's sake!" she cried in irritation. "You have a right to say anything you want to say to me."

"Do you really mean that?"

"Certainly, I mean it!"

The car slowed; his speech slowed. "I was only thinking," he said lightly. "That I like your dress today a good deal better than the one you wore the first night I met you."

That dress again!

"Most people thought the other one was lovely," Ellen put in faintly. How she wished she had not forced this issue!

"That's not quite what I was getting at."

JUST then he turned a sharp corner and Ellen, caught off guard, was literally flung into his arms. She gasped, exulted herself and moved back to her own corner with an uncertain laugh. She hoped the man would laugh too; hoped his attention would have been diverted from the dress. It had not been.

"You know what I was getting at, don't you?" he inquired idly.

"How should I?"

She was determined not to help him.

"Very well then, I'll tell you," he began briskly and in a manner most matter of fact. "It's none of my business and I'm rushing in where angels fear to tread and all that but it seems funny to me that—well—" he continued stubbornly after a break, "—that was an expensive dress, wasn't it?"

"This is an expensive car, isn't it?"

"Oh, I see! Meaning that at just this point a young man watches his step?"

"Meaning precisely that!"

Ellen was annoyed, as much with herself as with him. She wanted to be furiously angry. Larry had no right to question her when she could not question him. Her affairs were as much her own as were his. But she could not be really angry; she dared not risk severing the slender thread that bound them together. Still her pride meant something. She would not explain.

"I'm sorry. I've no right to be so curious," he apologized unexpectedly and almost as if he were reading her secret thoughts. "I don't know what got into me. Let's drop the subject and talk about the weather or what we're going to do this afternoon."

The apology also failed to satisfy. Ellen was conscious of a certain disappointment, baffling and displeasing. She would not admit that deep in her heart she had hoped Larry would insist he had the right to know everything about her.

There was a rather flat interval. Then Larry began driving at such terrific speed that the girl could think of nothing except keeping her hair up and her frock down. The pins showered from her hair. She pleaded with the speed maniac in vain.

"How's for some dancing?" he shouted, grinning.

"Too hot for dancing," she shouted in answer. "Have you ever been to Coney? Why don't we rent suits and have that kind of a rowdy afternoon?"

Immediately he whirled the car in the direction of Coney Island.

Thoughts for Lent

"Flesh and Blood Hath Not Revealed It Unto Thee"

(Read Matthew 16:13-17.)

We are frequently led by our confidence in human reasoning, to think that faith can be built up by merely rational means. This is not the case. Faith comes from a source beyond the reach of our conscious minds; although, to be sure, our minds are able to direct the flow of spiritual revelation into the channels of intelligent thought. Like a river, religious experience comes down from hidden springs up yonder in the mountains. Only those who are willing to go back into the hills and trace the river to its beginnings by prayer and meditation, can ever find for themselves the pure and simple truths of deep religion. To such the Master says, "Flesh and blood hath not revealed this unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven."

Prayer: O Thou who art revealed to the sight of all whose eyes are open, grant, we beseech Thee, that we may be so clear of vision that Thy Presence shall be always known to us; and grant especially, we pray, through Thy Holy Spirit, that when Christ manifests Himself to us, we may know that He is indeed Thy son, Amen.

millionaires and billionaires who refuse to pay taxes and send their money to other countries to exploit them and expect the U. S. A. to protect their securities abroad. By government ownership we cannot have any millionaires because the profits will be in the hands of the government which is all of the people and the surplus can be used to pay the costs of the system.

THE OPEN FORUM

Editor of the Daily Dispatch:

Where is our tax money going to? Listen by good reader. I will give you some figures. Our state of Minnesota cost the taxpayer $80,000,000 in 1917 to run our government and in 1931 it cost $19,000,000.

I'll say it is time to call a halt. The people must speak with a united voice. Washington will then listen. Our people must insist on relief from a tax burden. One cause of that burden is the venture of the government into more and more new jobs or in other words more officers, whether they do anything or not. Just as long as they have a job and the poor taxpayer has to pay for them. The result I honestly believe is the main cause of depression. Our higher taxes caused by lavish governmental spending are a prime factor in the present situation.

But I doubt whether our talks, even with the voice of the people, will have much effect if nothing else more jobs, more taxes and that is true. And I say to you farmers, you take farm taxes increased 172 per cent. in 10 years and have done much to put agriculture in the worst condition in all history. Value of farm lands has declined between $20,000,000,000 and $25,000,000,000 since 1920, mortgages have mounted to nearly $10,000,000,000, tenants now operate 42 per cent. of American farms. Many honest farmers living on their farms are unable to pay the high taxes. For 10 years farmers have looked for some sort of relief from our government, but in all that time not a single measure of any value has been passed or come out of Washington. Every bill has been passed for political reason. I say the farmers of our great country are the backbone. I'll say again our farmers are being crushed by unjust taxation and by mortgages and interest! Our government contributes lavishly to other causes where it first needed. Our government has lent money to France at 3 1/2 per cent. also to England, but our good American farmers has to pay 7 per cent. on his mortgage. That is the system we have today and if our people don't try to stop this it will get worse every year. I remember well as a little boy, as I was born on a farm, my father had 160 acres of land. The only schooling I received I remember well was in a one room log county school house and we only had three months school during the winter months. That was in Carver county and I remember my teacher's name well to this day as Anna Daily and she only received $50 per month. But taxes were cheap in those days in 1890. My father paid $40 a year taxes. But you must remember we didn't have no school nurse, no sewing teacher, no county agent, no forest patrol, no county engineer, no milk inspector and the people got along better than now. Everybody had work that wanted to work, and everybody felt good. I was told that Ole Erickson was sheriff here for 20 years, I believe in 1898, and the old timers will remember that Sheriff Erickson was doing the work all alone unless he was so busy he couldn't handle it alone. Well then he called for a deputy and you old timers also will remember the sheriff those days had twice as much work as the lumberjacks and Indians were here and Brainerd had 21 or more saloons. Now we have a peaceful county and have 3 sheriffs. I say you people are to blame for the depression and hard times. Your vote put those men in office. Crow Wing county and the city of Brainerd, if they wanted to, could save the taxpayers in one year $10,000. I say Crow Wing county didn't need a county engineer and pay him $250 a month. What is the surveyor doing? And besides, the state has a state engineer. I'll say again such offices as county engineer, county agent, county nurse, secretary of water and light board should be voted on by the people. I remember well when the great empire builder, James J. Hill, was lying on his sick bed in the Mayo's hospital in Rochester. One day he told Dr. Mayo, "doctor I could get my health back again if I could get my money all to the poor." He couldn't take his money along.

I honestly believe if our senate and president would work more with God in their dealings in government business they would have more success. Did George Washington or Abraham Lincoln do work without God. No, they had God in their work every day. That is why they made a success of their work. And both those great men were honest.

If time permits me I will call a mass meeting in the farmers' room in the court house. It's a public building. We taxpayers and you people that pay rent, and you farmers, I want you all to come and listen to our talks. I am trying to get Magnus Johnson, former United States senator, to come up to make a speech.

You will see a notice in our Daily Dispatch some time next month, and I would like to see such men in our meeting as Mr. Dan Chord and Mr. Charlie Gassa. My talk will be on where our tax money goes to.

Yours truly,

AL. SUNDQUIST

To the Editor Brainerd Daily Dispatch:

After reading Sandy's letter, also the others on different subjects, this depression seems to be waking up some of the people in this immediate vicinity. What is the reason and who is to blame? The system we have put into operation is to blame. We have a system of individual competitive capitalism where each and every person is competing against his fellowman trying to get rich and also trying to get his fellowman's job away from him in every class from day laborer to farmer and mechanic of all kinds. Then when the system fails to keep everyone employed at living wages, we have to call upon the government to make provision for us by pledging the credit of all the people to carry us along until such time as this depression is over. This depression is not over yet, in fact from what I can see and read of it, we have not got down to the bottom yet. We need a radical change from the G. O. P. or any other party. Why not make a third party right now? Call it the U. P. D., which means United Unselfish Patriotic Democracy, and start the government into business right. I suppose some will say no, keep the government out of business. Why? Just stop and think a few minutes. Look around you. Take a government employed man. There are quite a few of them in your immediate vicinity. Do you see any of them unemployed or getting any layoffs without a full system failed. The capitalistic system pay check every month? How about has got to go. We cannot support mil-

a government job for all of us? It's quite possible, if we wish it, and can be arranged by all of the people without going to war over or shedding any innocent blood. We need the change to be able to live and let live and it's the only remedy, no matter what anyone says against it. Yes, government stores, government banks, government barber shops and every other business is much more preferable to capitalistic corruption and individual millionaires and billionaires. We want a government for the people and the people for all the people. Individualism never won a war or anything else. Do you realize that the Declaration of Independence was won by the system of united, unselfish patriotism and by leaders like George Washington who put everything he had into it? If he had tried to win freedom by his own individual self he would have failed. In unity there is great strength and it was the united efforts of all his followers that won the right to be able to declare that this U. S. A. was a free country. Why fear government in business? They are already in business, but restricted. Does anyone mean to say that the post office business isn't a great help to the residents of the U. S. A.? If this business was owned by private individuals the sending of letters would be prohibitive to the majority of the people. The parcel post gave the profits to the express company into the hands of the people. Did you know that in order to put the Panama Canal in operation the government had to go into business before they could make a success of it? They had their own stores, barber shops and everything else before they made a success of it. The most difficult problem in business that was ever enacted and by adopting the system of government ownership. They made a success where every other other getting any layoffs without a full system failed. The capitalistic system pay check every month? How about has got to go. We cannot support mil-

The Open Forum

To the Editor of the Daily Dispatch:
After hearing the Brainerd fans talk after the Crosby-Ironton basketball game we feel it necessary to say a few words about it.

Can't Brainerd ever lose to C-I without getting dirty about it? When a team is good give them credit. Did you hear us squawk after Brainerd won the football game on Armistice day? Friday night when the fans were leaving the school we heard remarks such as these: "Well, the Bohunks won." "Wasn't that referee terrible?" "Well, our boys aren't able to play on a floor like that." Wouldn't it be fairer and squarer to say, "They've got a good team. A good sportsman is not a poor loser."

Now let us take each remark in turn.

First: "Well, the Bohunks won." Have any of you forgotten what Ris once said, "This is the melting pot of the world." Every nationality, creed, and race can be found in these United States. Can any of these readers trace their ancestry back over three generations and not find among them immigrants to this country? Or two generations—one, two, three, or more, they all came from foreign shores to take their place in the formation of this country. Try to remember that the next time you comment on the C-I team. Doberavich, the captain (can you pronounce it?), is one of the best students in school, an honor man every year of his high school career. It's the man, not the name or nationality.

Second: "Wasn't the referee terrible?" We think he was quite lenient. Without knowing for a certainty how many fouls were called, we would say each team had about the same number of free throws. But every foul called was a foul committed. Brainerd did their best to hold down Perpich and were successful. Brainerd did play well in the first half and held C-I to a 2 point lead, but when C-I took the lead in the third quarter the "boos" began, and with it more fouls on the Brainerd team. This was no more than right. The Blue and White team were a little bit too anxious to hold the C-I boys down and consequently were a bit careless of body (hip) contact. All in all the referee called them as they were.

Third: "Our boys aren't able to play on a floor like that." Brainerd has, without a question, the best gym in the district. But do you remember two years ago when C-I's gym was the best? Brainerd has won on smaller floors than the one they played on Friday night. Why bother?

As one C-I fan said after the game, "Sportsmanship in Brainerd has become a thing of the past."

Fergus Falls Asks Jacobson to File for Re-election

Fergus Falls, Minn., Feb. 26.—(UP)—A mass meeting of citizens and farmers last night urged O. P. E. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner, to file for re-election if his health permits.

Jacobson was urged to give up all ideas of resigning which rumors claimed he was contemplating. Half a dozen speakers expressed the highest regard for Jacobson, who is a former Fergus Falls man.

The meeting adopted a resolution to the effect that farmers of Minnesota need a man of Jacobson's caliber in the commission. Jacobson told the meeting he had no intention of resigning but did not comment on filing for re-election.

Light Schedule Faces Dempsey During Week

Chicago, Feb. 29.—(UP)—Itinerary of Jack Dempsey's exhibition tour up to March 21 was announced today.

The former world's heavyweight champion will fight two rounds each with Pat Sullivan and Jack Phillips at Dayton, O., tonight, March 3 he will meet Jack O'Dowd and George Trenkle in a pair of two-rounders at Cincinnati.

Opponents have not yet been picked for exhibitions at Columbus March 7, Akron March 10, Toledo March 12, Youngstown March 14, Clarksburg, W. Va., March 16 and Toronto March 21.

New York, Feb. 29.—(UP)—Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion, will attempt another comeback tonight—in the welterweight division—when he meets Billy McMahon, rugged New Yorker, in a 10-round bout at St. Nicholas gymnasium.

Chicago, Feb. 29.—(UP)—Ernie Schaff, Boston heavyweight, has been signed by the Chicago stadium for a bout March 30 with any heavyweight selected by the stadium as his opponent. King Levinsky or Mickey Walker is sought for the fight. Tuffy Griffiths refused the match. He is to be married March 28 and said he would be on his honeymoon at the time of the proposed bout.

BASEBALL FANS TO DECIDE ON PARK, SITE TUESDAY

Final decision on the creation of a new baseball park and the selection of the site will be made Tuesday night at 8 o'clock when a mass meeting of all baseball enthusiasts will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Committee members investigated half a dozen different sites will make a report upon the relative merits and advantages of each location. The committee, composed of William Turcotte, F. Jarboe, John Stanley and M. Nutting, have indicated that it will favorably report a location on South Sixth street known as the E. Bane property. Ten acres are included in this plot which is located south of the bottling works.

All baseball fans are invited and urged to attend this meeting. The committee feels that the sooner the final decision is reached the quicker details to acquire the site will be completed.

At the Training Camps

Clearwater, Fla., Feb. 29.—(UP)—Jack Quinn, veteran spitball pitcher who will do relief hurling for the Brooklyn Dodgers again this year, has reported for spring training, swinging into his twenty-ninth year as a pitcher. The record is not matched by any other active ball players.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 29.—(UP)—Babe Ruth, although still a holdout, was ready to begin work with the New York Yankees when the second squad reports to Manager McCarthy at Huganfield.

New Orleans, Feb. 29.—(UP)—Battery candidates of the Cleveland Indians will wind up their preliminary drill today. According to Manager Roger Peckinpaugh the first exhibition game will be played Saturday with the New Orleans Pelicans.

St. Louis, Feb. 29.—(UP)—The vanguard of the St. Louis Browns today were enroute to West Palm Beach, Fla., to begin spring training. They are scheduled to arrive tomorrow. Two officials of the club accompanied the group.

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 29.—(UP)—Members of the Philadelphia Athletics spent their first Sunday in camp golfing, fishing and sleeping. Outfielder Robert Cramer, who reported over the week end, led arrival of absentee infielders.

Los Angeles, Feb. 29.—(UP)—Leonard Koenecke, outfielder who cost the New York Giants $75,000 in players, has arrived at Camp Ready for business. He modestly admitted he should hit at least .325 in the big time this year because he made .353 with Indianapolis last season.

Boston, Feb. 29.—(UP)—The Boston Red Sox were enroute to Savannah, Ga., today. Manager John Collins headed the party made up largely of newspapermen, with just two ball players, Justin McLaughlin and Bob Parr, pitcher.

Chicago, Calif., Feb. 29.—(UP)—The Detroit Tigers of the American league left Richardson's Springs today for a week's training at Palo Alto, and their places were taken by 26 members of the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast league. The Tigers will train at the Stanford university diamond.

BOILERMAKERS HOLD LEAD AS WILDCATS GIRL FOR COMEBACK

Chicago, Feb. 29.—(UP)—The last full week of intensive games in Big Ten basketball began today with Northwestern's Wildcats fighting to climb back to share at least the title they won undisputedly last season.

Their real test comes Saturday night against Purdue, now the conference leader, provided they turn back Ohio State at Columbus tonight. The Wildcats will be playing on their home floor Saturday but oppose a team which already has defeated them decisively.

Meanwhile the Boilermakers, to maintain their apparently safe lead with eight games won, one lost, must vanquish Illinois at Lafayette tonight. They were not impressive in winning from a weak Wisconsin team 28 to 21 at Madison Saturday night.

In the other Saturday games Minnesota barely nosed out Illinois 27 to 26 to clinch a first division stand. Michigan triumphed easily over Iowa 35 to 27, and Ohio State avenged its earlier beating by lulling Chicago 40 to 31. The Maroons' only victory this season was over State. The Gophers now are in third place with Michigan a full game behind.

Illinois, thus far unbeatable on its own floor, may upset the Boilermakers tonight, unless they regain the speed and accurate shooting abandoned in their listless game against Wisconsin.

The season closes next Monday with four games. Northwestern and Iowa conclude their schedules Saturday.

| Team | W. | L. | Pct. |

HAMLIN TO MEET TOMMIES IN FINAL STATE LOOP GAME

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 29.—(UP)—With only their undefeated record to defend, the Hamline university basketball team will close its season Wednesday against St. Thomas college of St. Paul, as the state conference championships.

Hamline defeated Macalester college 29 to 22 Saturday night to clinch its hold on first place. St. Thomas, with six victories and three defeats in second place, cannot overtake Hamline which has 10 wins and no defeats to its credit.

Gustavus Adolphus college of St. Peter, Minn., trounced the strong Concordia college team of Moorhead in the only other game played Saturday. The victory was considered an upset as Concordia holds third place in the conference standings.

| Team | W. | L. | Pct. |
|------------|----|----|-------|
| Hamline | 10 | 0 | 1.000 |
| St. Thomas | 6 | 3 | .667 |
| Concordia | 6 | 4 | .600 |
| Gustavus | 5 | 6 | .455 |
| St. Olaf | 4 | 5 | .444 |
| Augsburg | 4 | 7 | .363 |
| Macalester | 3 | 8 | .273 |
| St. John's | 2 | 7 | .222 |

Cry "Crosby-Ironton Fears Brainerd," Gives Fans Confidence in Brainerd's Prospects

Like the perennial outburst of Chicago's grand old man of athletics—Amos Alonzo Stagg, whose cry "Chicago Fears Purdue" has long been the watchword of their gridiron struggles in the Big Ten, a plaintive note comes filtering from the range district that "Crosby-Ironton Fears Brainerd." The reference, quite naturally, is to the district basketball tournament opening Thursday in the Washington high school gymnasium here.

Report has been motivated by Brainerd's strong showing against the powerful Crosby-Ironton quintet during the first of last week's game. Holding the potent range attack nullified throughout the first half, at one time forging to the front by a two-point margin, Brainerd's cagers suffered a lapse in the last half only to drop the decision after a belated rally that yanked the Blue and White outfit eight points through Elmer Foster's wild scoring spree.

Brainerd fans, eyeing the possibility of a district championship but visualizing Crosby-Ironton as the only big obstacle of almost insurmountable proportions clinging to the hope that the Blue and White lads can keep pace with the elongated range cagers in their next meeting and are also banking heavily upon Bill Dammann, cool, silent and calculating mentor, to have an "ace" up his sleeve.

Dammann's strategy has been apparent in event games. They see him securing little used tricks from his little black bag that will spell the difference between victory and defeat. And, fans also call attention to the traditional meeting of Crosby-Ironton and Brainerd for the district title. Strategy has played an important role in the finals.

The yellowed pages of the age-old records of rivalry between the two teams tells of the see-saw inclination or district honors. Last year, Brainerd copped the gonfalon. The year before Crosby-Ironton represented this section in the regional tournament. And so on down through the ages of athletic competition.

Brainerd fans, backing their team with the enthusiasm of near hysteria, have lived one of the most exciting tournaments in recent years. They get this idea from the "dark horse" tendency of several teams. Probably Staples, and more likely Brainerd, will prove the off-color animal that will upset the dopsters and the latter is conceded an even chance to cop the bunting in the finals.

With morale of his team high but, guarding against "over-keping," Coach Dammann, as usual, will early this week pick his tournament squad upon whose shoulders will rest Brainerd's chances for representation in the regional eliminations. Who they will be only fans can hazard but "Silent Bill" has a fair idea and his tactics in recent years have indicated that he has much more than just a season's record in his repertoire of strategy that he will unleash in his proteges' bid for district honors.
